"Hands were clapping, toes were tapping and, before long, fans were kicking up their heels at the Capital Music Hall, where the Irish Society of the National Capital Region hosted their Celtic Rock fundraiser.

More than 300 people gathered at the Rideau St. venue for a lively night of entertainment featuring The Mahones with their unique style of Celtic, rock and punk. The line-up also included the Ottawa Fiddle and Step Association and the Ottawa-based band Celtæ, founded by Cape Breton native Nathan MacDonald. "
